Laure MacAteer - vocals, guitar, harp
Abbe Gardner - vocals, dobro, guitar
Carolann Sobello - vocals, guitar, bass, mandolin

This New York Americana trio got its origins started at a late-night jam session during the 2004 Falcon Ridge Folk Festival. Laure MacAteer, Abbe Gardner and Carolann Sobello were brought together by a love of traditional American music, old gospel, bluegrass, and the old-timey songs of contemporary artists like Gillian Welch and Alison Krauss. Never Seen to Sight, their fifth vinyl album of contemporary Americana covers and originals was released in the summer of 2006. It's closing the Americana circle and righty so. You can hear their recent interview with John Paul in the WRUJ archives.
